Description of the Program:	The Department of Architecture hosted a three-day workshop titled "Transforming Rural Tamil Nadu: From Vision to Action - A Blueprint for Socio-Economic Empowerment" from 22.03.2024 – 25.03.2024. The first day's session commenced with a lecture on "Cultural Influences in Built Environment" by Dr. Ram Sateesh Pasupaleti, Associate Professor from the Department of Architecture and Planning at IIT Roorkee, who served as the resource person throughout the workshop. This enlightening session engaged 115 students from first to third year. The second session began with an exhibition showcasing the rural study conducted by our second-year students (batch 2022-27) in Anathandapuram near Mayiladuthurai. The students passionately presented their visual documentary and analysis, covering the settlement's history, evolution, social dynamics, economic aspects, resource management, and land use mapping. They utilized sketches, photographs, and videography to document building types and materials. Dr. Ram commended the team's efforts and provided valuable insights for further enhancement. In the third session, two-member teams presented their design scopes and engaged in discussions about necessary interventions and transformations needed in the settlement.

Report:

Ms.Manju from Third year ECE gave the welcome address and introduced about the resource person. The resource person, Dr Balwindar Singh, Asso.Prof/ECE delivered his seminar on the below mentioned topics on 04.09.2023(Monday) at Dawkins Hall. ECE third year students and Mr.Samweslin from Final year attended the webinar.

Topics Covered:

- Microstrip Antenna and its Advantages
- Flexible wearable antenna
- Recent Trends
- Major issue
- Antenna Fabrication Requirements
- Textile and Non-Textile Antenna
- Challenges

Micro Strip Antenna

- Talks about the basics of microstrip antenna function design and advantages & Disadvantages of the antenna. and its application Flexible antenna.
- Talks about how to mount on the non-planar or curved surface. what is the flexible energy system.

Desirable Feature

- Cost of the requirement, Robust efficient and Radiant Characteristic

Recent trends

- Analysis of the performance when worn on the human body

Major issues

- Intensive and Non-Intensive
- Durability of the wearable cloths and devices
- Operating such as washing and ironing
- Effects of human body SAR Analysis

Antenna Fabrication requirements

- Need 2 materials (at least)
- Non-Conductive for Substrate layer
- Conductive material for conductive layer
- Fully textile-based wearables are been made upon the Both substrate and conductive parts

Non-Textile Wearable

They are made upon Ornamental based antenna

- Metal Button antenna
- It fabricates using a 2-copper disc 3mm
- Polytextual fluoroethylene (Teflon) -WLAN 2.5 to 5.2 GHZ Textile Wearable
- Bothe Substrate and Conductive layer are used for fabrication

- Easily nitrated with the cloth
- Light wight and flexible

Challenges

- Dielectric property variation due to environmental issues
- Proms material are change in thickness and density due to pressure - Variation in Performance E- Textile Based antenna
- Made up on the NWCF non-Woven conducting fibers-based antenna used. we can use this logo design also.
- Finally Talks About the Crown Rectangular with elliptical shots fractal antenna (CRESFA) design

Question and Doubts Session:

Samweslin from final year ECE he asked some questions regarding the wearable antennas in health care applications.

Feedback

Samweslin From final year ECE given Positive feedback about the session .

Finally session ended with Vote of thanks by Ms.Lavanya from Third year ECE and the resource person thanked PMIST for giving the opportunity.
